

Apollo Boys' Choir, Dallas, Texas, Will Give Last Major Entertainment

Twenty-one Singers Range
From Nine to Fourteen
Years of Age.

Coleman Cooper Will Direct

Group, Founded in 1935, Has Won
Envious Reputation Among
Music Organizations.

The College will present the Apollo Boys' Choir of Dallas, Texas, Thursday night, May 9, as the fourth and last number of the major entertainment schedule for this school year. According to Dr. Blanche Dow, this is the "biggest" event since the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra was here last November.

The Apollo Boys' Choir is a non-sectarian, non-denominational and non-profit organization. Its twenty-one members range in age from nine to fourteen years and are for the most part boys of superior intelligence. They have an opportunity to enjoy many rare cultural and educational advantages.

Mr. Coleman Cooper, director of the group, is thoroughly equipped for his work, having acquired excellent musical training and understanding through study with eminent chormasters in this country and Europe.

As a child, Mr. Cooper had a remarkably fine voice, but there was no sort of boys' choir in the South in which he might sing. He resolved that as soon as he was fitted he would organize a choir so that other young singing boys could have the privilege that he had been denied.

That resolution he has fulfilled, in organizing the only group ready to replace the celebrated Vienna Boys' Choir, when its activities were halted by the war.

Since its founding in 1935, the Choir has established for itself a reputation of one of the foremost musical organizations of America. During the past six years the Choir has made over 400 appearances, which include two performances for the late President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, two recitals in New York's Town Hall, two special appearances at the National Art Gallery in Washington, participation in the Bach Festival at Winter Park, Florida, and numerous concerts with symphony orchestras and over major radio networks.

Audiences who have heard the boys are unanimous in their praise of their exquisite tone quality, flawless vocalism, delicate harmony, and well disciplined musicianship.

Without a doubt this appearance of the Boys' Choir marks one of the high lights of the College year. Their music should furnish an evening of beauty and delight to music lovers.

The senior class of 1946 of the Horace Mann high school presented "June Mad," a comedy in three acts written by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements, on Tuesday night, April 9. As is the custom, the play was presented in the College auditorium.

The plot traces the "evolution" of 15-year-old Penny Wood from an indifferently-dressed tomboy to a young lady who realizes it takes more than a strapless formal dress to make a girl truly "grown-up." Her growing-up process begins when a 20-year-old uncle brings a sophisticated "Big Man on Campus" home from college. Penny falls for him with all the violence of a first crush, and upsets the whole household with her efforts to appear a woman of the world.

The cast of the play in order of their appearance was as follows: Penny Wood, Margaret Fisher; Chuck Harris, Roy Goodman; Mrs. Wood, Helen Stanton; Elmer Tuttle, Ross Johnson; Dr. Wood, Paul Hansen; Effie, Gertrude Devine; Milly Lou, Esta Jean Birkenholz; C. Marvin Roberts, Jimmie Thompson; Roger Van Vleet, Don Donahue; Mr. Harris, William Garrett; Shirley Wentworth, Loretta Shelton; Ralph Wentworth, Herbert Treese; Julie Harris, Joan Schneider.

Director of the play was Mrs. James A. Carter. Those in charge of the stage were Dean McClurg, Christine Bracken, Helen Kempf, Arthur Howard, and Mary Rose O'Connell; of the properties, Richard Baker, Dale Davidson, Lola Weathermon, and Lottie Kelly; of the tickets, Gerald Bortoroff, Golda Rasco, and Fred Wantland. Talks to Classes in Fine Arts.

She told about what some schools were doing and showed samples of the work of students.

Miss Cook spoke chiefly of the Junior Red Cross activities which could be correlated with classroom art. She said some of the things often made in art classes for Junior Red Cross are napkins, transparencies, carnival hats, nut cups, place cards, holiday cards, menu covers, wall hangings, posters, crossword puzzle covers, portfolios, tray covers, carol booklets, and party favors.

The chief purpose of the contributions, she explained, is to draw the patient's thoughts away from his illness or injury for awhile and perhaps to brighten his day by a small touch of gaiety or humor.

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

CELEBRATION OF EASTER

The Easter season is here. And what does Easter mean?

The word Easter is the name applied to an old Teutonic goddess of spring, in Anglo Saxon, "Eastre." The goddess was the pagan deity whose interest was in new life of the spring season, in a rebirth, a living again.

When Christians began celebrating the resurrection of Christ, a word was needed for the celebration. In Teutonic countries the old pagan goddess, no longer worshipped, gave the name or rather the celebration in her honor was transferred to a celebration honoring the risen Savior.

Easter is a movable date, but the celebration of it falls on the first Sunday after the first full moon that falls on or follows the vernal equinox (March 21). When the full moon falls on Sunday, Easter is celebrated one week later.

Lent, a period of preparation for Easter, observed by many in fasting and self-denial, begins on Ash Wednesday, forty days before Easter. This year Ash Wednesday fell on March 13.

The College closes for an Easter recess on Thursday afternoon at five o'clock. This recess allows for the Good Friday services, which are a part of the Easter preparation in many churches. The recess closes at eight o'clock on Monday morning.

Easter is a time for religious celebration. It marks the day that brought hope to the followers of Christ, for on that day, according to the Bible, He triumphed over death. And His followers in the age since rejoice on Easter day over the Risen Savior.

TO FUTURE TEACHERS

Yours will be the job of building the nation of tomorrow, for under your guiding hands will grow and develop the future Lincolns, Edisons, and Manns. The children you teach will be striving for a greater and better world. You can help them by lighting the way and preparing them as best you can for the obstacles, grievances, and joys of the life into which they have come.

Remember, a well-taught child is a versatile child. Therefore, you, as teachers, must be versatile. You must be ready and willing to teach the many things that contribute toward good citizenship. By your own actions you will teach things not gained from books. What you teach in this way, the child will remember long after he has forgotten most of what he reads in his books.

Therefore, you should act and teach in ways which will lead your pupils to the road of happiness and success. You must have ideals and be striving toward them, but you must mix your ideals with practicality in order to fit the child for the out-of-school world which he will some day meet.

A CALL TO ARMS!

In former years the election of the College student president and vice-president followed a week of much competition between the two parties on the campus. Advertisements of candidates ranged from huge signs fluttering beneath the tower windows to names in white paint over many conspicuous places in town. Both the election campaign and the voting of ballots gave the students a valuable experience.

The past few years only one candidate has filed notice for each of the positions to be filled. During the war this was understandable, but now, with the increased enrollment, it seems almost mockery that interest in such an important position is so low that no more than one takes the trouble to file a candidate.

The officers chosen for next year are capable and will undoubtedly do a fine job of presiding over the student body. Yet they would very likely be much more enthusiastic over their raised status if they had gained it by overcoming opposition.

Wake up students and live! Take part in upholding and continuing College traditions. Don't let the alumni look at College activities with disappointment at the downfall of tradition. Each student has a part to play in keeping his Alma Mater as active and progressive as it should be.

Mundelein College Has New Two-hour Elective

CHICAGO, ILL.—(ACP)—Mundelein college's new two-hour history course, The United States and the United Nations, has turned out to be one of the most popular electives on the second semester schedule.

Fifty-nine students have signed for the course, which the college introduced because of the need for students, and all people, to understand the United Nations Organization.

Sister Mary Augustina, B.V.M., chairman of the History department, is the instructor of the course. Sister Mary Augustina was given the Dunning Award by Columbia University, several years ago, for her book, American Opinion of Roman Catholicism in the 18th Century.

The United Nations Class will study the Charter, which was signed at the San Francisco Conference, and its goals, its strengths and weaknesses, proposed amendments, and fields for future effort. The history and achievements of the first UNO session which opened in London on January 10 will be considered.

The course will include the fundamental principles underlying the problem of world peace, and will discuss possible solutions as well as practical suggestions for citizen-student contributions to world peace. In addition to the textbook, Weapons for Peace, by Thomas P. Nell, the class will use the daily newspapers for reference, and the United Nations Journal, publication of the general assembly.

The remaining $50,000 is to be used for several major construction projects.

Chairman J. Tom Gurney of the Board of Control said the "bare necessities for successful operation" of the University included: (1) A $1,200,000 combined gymnasium, armory, and auditorium. (2) A $250,000 addition to the chemistry building. (3) A $500,000 addition to the library. (4) A $327,000 classroom building.

The Board of Control also announced it had made available $480,500 from the University appropriation for the expansion of the teaching and administrative staffs and for purchase of extra laboratory equipment and other supplies to take care of the heavy enrollment.

Robert Evans Tells of Problems of Veterans

AUSTIN, TEX.—(ACP)—An insight into the red tape problems the veteran has in returning to school, along with some amusing sidelights, was given by Robert W. Evans, vocational adviser from the Veterans Administration regional office at Waco, Texas who is now at the University of Texas to investigate causes of slow payments to student veterans under the GI bill. "The veteran who appears on the college campus with no more than his feet and a sudden desire to attend that particular institution is the thorniest problem," Evans said. "Although this isn't the average case," he explained, "there are some exservicemen who are almost totally unfamiliar with their rights and benefits under the law. Perhaps, they may not even have started through the necessary procedure, or if so, have been ill-advised and haven't submitted the proper information."

"A surprisingly large number of veterans have answered no to the question 'Do you apply for subsistence allowance?'" Evans chuckled, "because they thought it meant GI check."

Angel's Attic is the name given by eleven Bowling Green women to their dorm. They are quartered on the top floor of the hospital building. They abide by the same rules as the rest of the freshmen on campus. Extra added conveniences are five flights of steps to be entered by the back door and some loose phone wires not yet anchored to a phone.

Nearly 30,000 couples in England and Wales were divorced in the first months of 1945.

IN THE SPRING—A Mood

(An experiment in tankas)

On the window ledge,
Daffodils in my blue ing
Smile their golden smiles.
I sit at my desk, poring
Over musty old volumes.

A bird in the tree
Outside my window, singing,
Tells me spring is here.
I sit at my desk, poring
Over musty old volumes.

Daffodils and bird,
You tantalize me sorely.
Don't you know I loathe
Sitting at my desk, poring
Over musty old volumes?

Conference Is Held at Reed College April 5-6

PORTLAND, ORE.—(ACP)—Delegates from Pacific Northwest colleges met at Reed College April 5-6 to discuss ways and means of strengthening world organizations in the atomic age. The congress is sponsored by the Portland League of Women Voters and is the first of what is hoped to be a series of such conferences all over the country.

Representatives are being solicited from thirty-two colleges in the area, with two delegates from each school expected. No requirements are made from these members as to the nature of their majors in college. Students from all divisions are invited to participate.

Representatives from the League are at present working on a list of possible national leaders, one of whom they expect to have on campus to address the group. After the kick-off group meeting the congress will break up into smaller conference groups to discuss the questions which are being prepared by Phil Dreyer in conjunction with a committee from the League.

Following the Portland assembly, meetings will be held on the different college campuses to present the resolutions to the local student groups so that they may vote on them. Reports of the Portland convention will be sent to all Northwest Congressmen, and to the officials of the United Nations Organization.

South Dakota College Employs Many Veterans

BROOKING, S. DAK.—(ACP)—Governor M. Q. Sharpe disclosed that South Dakota State College now employs 45 veterans on its staff, to place second on the list of state departments who have hired former servicemen.

These men are a part of the total of 286 World War II veterans now employed by state departments and institutions in South Dakota.

Sharpe said the hiring of former servicemen "is in line with a policy to use veterans wherever possible." Veterans who are former employees of the state have a number one preference, he added.

The Stroller

The Stroller—overhearing a request that veterans remember the meeting nights—thinks maybe that since many of them are married that their lenses are too short.

All kinds of requests made—the very important one comes from Miss Sarah Espey who says that she would like a certain freshman to be called Byron instead of "Bud."

The Stroller on one of his strolls noticed that Dean Beamer, too, just walked—with a Maryville high girl—and he used to drive for Miles.

And the Stroller himself just listen!

The stroller's glad; the stroller's sad—
To borrow a phrase, he's plain "June Mad,"
For ever since a week ago
The next day after that high school show,
He's known just what is wrong with him.
This phrase just fits his every whim—
He's June Mad!

There's nothing one can possibly do

When one's so terribly all-a-do
'Cept jump around from here to there
And trip with madness everywhere,
Laugh and whisper, cry and shout
No one knowing what's 'tis 'bout.
You'd think he had spring fever—bad!
Oh, no—he's June Mad!

'Tween a June Mad Stroller and a spring-nipped one

To draw a line—but it can be done!
The difference in them, I can tell you this—
If you make a distinction—never miss—
The product of spring goes his own sweet way
He dotes on the flowers and the coming of May
(And thirsts not for gossip)
But the one who seems to have the hee-bee-jeebes,
The St. Vitus's dance, and the "oh, do-see-me's"
From him you run—and look back glad—
'Cause oh—he's June Mad!

Report-mad, write-mad, type-mad, news-sad
Confused-abused-refused-neglected
A-whirl, a-surl, a-hurl-a girl (?)
A madness that needs to be protected
(From the public).
Up and down, around the halls
And over the campus he went.
He sniffed around here; put his nose in there,
For he thought he had a scent
(Of some gossip).

Alas—what he thought gossip
Turned out to be news
T'wit these two the Stroller
Must learn how to choose
(If he remains a Stroller).
But oh, the dear "thesis"—to get back to it—
Who'd think the Stroller capable of such a fit?
It remains simply that the story sad
Of a poor little broken-up Stroller
(With a guilty conscience)
Comes from being—June Mad.

Six Chilean Professors Are Now in United States

PITTSBURGH, PENN.—(ACP)—Six professors from the University of Chile who are prominently identified with Chile's industrial development are here on a technical mission for the Chilean government. They are spending four months in the United States studying the leading technical institutions and industries that maintain programs for training technicians and experts.

The International Training Administration of Washington, D. C. is sponsoring their tour, and has asked Carnegie Tech to arrange a program for their visit to Pittsburgh. They will visit Mellon Institute, Bureau of Mines, University of Pittsburgh, and several industrial concerns in this district.

Courses in Languages May Use Army Teaching Method

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—(ACP)—A professor at Yale University recently said that the "intensive" method of teaching languages used by the Army in instructing ASTP trainees is certain to "make itself felt" in post-war language courses everywhere.

In his opinion, "if one learns to speak the language first, he can usually master the orthography in less than half the time it would otherwise take him."

The Army method of teaching is to use two instructors. One is a trained linguist who explains the language to students, gives them grammatical summaries, and answers questions. The other is a native speaker who spends twelve or more hours each week with groups of six or eight students.

Pennsylvania College for Women Revises Curriculum

PITTSBURGH, PA.—(ACP)—Pennsylvania College for Women, President Paul Russell Anderson announces, is in the process of revising its curriculum, using as a yardstick the "definition of an educated person" recently adopted by its faculty.

Courses will be arranged to explore and explain the study of man as a human organism, the universe he inhabits, his social relationships, his aesthetic achievements, and his attempt to organize his experience. All courses will be slanted to develop certain abilities as well as such generally significant ones as the ability to observe with care and discrimination, to synthesize and correlate, and to make unbiased objective judgments based on evidence.

Senior Gives Her Recital in Piano

Betty McPherson Presents Variety of Numbers From Masters.

Betty McPherson, pupil of Miss Judith Thom of the College Conservatory of Music, gave her senior piano recital in the auditorium of the Horace Mann laboratory school Monday evening, April 15, at 8:15 o'clock.

The first group of Miss McPherson's recital consisted of Primo Tempo by Ciaia-Bartok, and Prelude and Pique in D major from the Well Tempered Clavier by J. S. Bach. The big number on the program was the Sonata in A-flat major, Op. 26, by Beethoven. For her final selection she presented The Fountain by Ravel.

Miss McPherson's first group was in a classic vein. The first number was an early Italian selection, was executed with grace and fluency. The Bach Prelude was gay and sparkling, while the Pique was portrayed with the more sombre tones which are so characteristic of the master.

The Beethoven Sonata, brought a new, romantic tone to the program. Miss McPherson played the first movement, a theme and variations, with a clear understanding and interpretation of the different moods. The Scherzo was a complete contrast, bringing out Beethoven's quaint, dry humor for which he is noted. The Funeral March was slow and majestic, with rich chords and a military flavor. The final rondo was a brilliant conclusion to the sonata.

Miss McPherson's last selection, The Fountain by Ravel, was expertly played. The delicacy of the playing waters was amply demonstrated by the clarity of the performance.

For her encore, Miss McPherson played a short piece by Mozart entitled "The Bread and Butter Waltz."

Three State Colleges Get Some Spring Rejuvenating

Three of the Missouri state teachers' colleges are getting their faces lifted. The Southwest Missouri State Teachers College at Springfield now has a new front. The old synthetic stone columns have given way to columns of the most expensive of the Carthage stone. This stone is that of which the building itself is made.

The Southeast State Teachers College at Cape Girardeau is rejuvenating its Student Center by cleaning and refinishing the furniture and walls, and by hanging a new print of a Thomas Hart Benton painting on the west wall.

The College at Maryville is brightening daily under the tremendous task of refinishing and, in some instances, rebuilding of floors in offices and classrooms in the administration building. Other redecoration has been and is being undertaken in the Administration building, the Quadrangle, and other campus buildings.

Alumna of College Writes Article on Rehabilitation

"The Place of the Schools in Vocational Rehabilitation" is the title of an article by Miss June West in the Colorado School Journal for February. Miss West, now dean of women at the junior college, Lamar, Colorado, is a graduate of the College and has her Master's degree from the University of Colorado.

Miss West suggests that for taking care of returning veterans each state should first be divided into sections or districts, with all the high schools in each section cooperating with the college that serves that district. Each high school is to obtain a list of all honorably discharged service men in its district and to put that list, with other data to be compiled, on file in the high school office and at the college, in the district.

Among data, which will be collected by juniors and seniors in high school and students in college, will be a list of all firms—retail, wholesale, manufacturing, etc.—in each town. The head of each firm is to be interviewed with the view of getting his cooperation in assisting veterans to find suitable work.

Employment Services would have access to the data collected, which would include also accurate data about the veterans, and the colleges could use them for designing courses to meet the need for preparation for particular jobs that are shown to be open.

Miss West concludes her article: "With such information on file, school and veterans' counselors could help veterans choose vocation wisely, prepare for them adequately, and follow them with the satisfaction that comes when the right job and the right person find each other."

New Electric Supply For Farms

SIoux CITY, IA.—A new four-bladed, wind-driven generator for 32-volt farm lighting systems that will charge batteries in winds as low as five miles per hour makes possible a new electric supply for the one million farms beyond reach of power lines. Blades are air foils that are pulled around by the wind instead of being pushed as with the conventional pressure type used on standard wind mills. This Winchager is equipped with an automatic governor which feathers two blades to prevent excessive charging rate during high winds. The unit when used with proper type of storage battery will provide 100 kilowatt hours of dependable power per month. This is enough to operate an electric refrigerator, a water system, radio, vacuum cleaner, washing machine and iron, and provide power for cream separator, milking machine, illuminated chicken house and light-type pig brooder. The average electric consumption of electrified farms in the United States is 71 kilowatt hours per month.

Rushville's Play Contest Highlight

By AUDREY WOODWARD

The dramatic production, "The Giants Stairs," by four high school students from Rushville was the highlight of the six one-act plays given Friday morning at the College auditorium as part of the high school spring contests.

The choice of play was excellent but the acting was the outstanding feature. Each character was "lived."

The character of Till was so real that the minute the curtains parted and the audience saw her sitting there they were aware that she was demented, even though she had not spoken or moved.

"The Lord's Prayer," given by the Maryville high school, was also exceptionally well acted. It was the story of a dramatic situation developing in the household of a young priest after he has been shot. His sister feels, for a time, that she has lost her faith.

The Characters

Mademoiselle Rose was played by Charlene Hartness. Jane Boyard played Zelee. A neighborhood priest was played by Bill Elam. James Spainhower played the fugitive. Dick Palmer played the soldier. Gertrude Kissinger played Mere Blanche. Paul J. Watson announced and Miss Mary Frances Lasell directed the Maryville play.

New Point presented a comedy, "A Quiet Wedding at Home." Albany gave "Dead Men Can't Hurt You," a dramatic tragedy. Maryville and Martinsville both presented comedies, "The Blue Teapot," and "Pink Patches," respectively.

Maryville and Rushville both rated I in the one-act play competition Friday. Albany rated II; Maryville and Martinsville, III, and New Point, IV.

Social Science 1c Class Takes Poll

Senior Day Is Chosen for Asking Opinions About Important Topics.

To find out what people are thinking, the Social Science 1c of the College conducted a poll on Senior Day, asking a series of 8 questions to 339 people. Of this number 178 were high school students, 106 were social science students in the College, 43 were other students in the College, and 12 were members of the College faculty.

Dr. John Harr, who was in charge of the poll and the analysis of the results, said in an interview, "The opinions expressed are not necessarily the correct ones. The numbers do not necessarily reflect the right opinion, but they afford reader an opportunity of seeing whether their own opinions correspond with those expressed by the majority of the 339 people queried in the poll."

The questions were varied, ranging from international to local. The first question was Should the United States adopt a compulsory military training program? To this question, 118 high school students said Yes, 48 said No, and 12 had no opinion; 62 college social science students said Yes, 39 said No, and 5 had no opinion; 30 other college students said Yes, 10 said No, and 3 had no opinion; 4 faculty people said Yes and 8 said No—all expressed opinions.

The second question, Should the OPA be extended beyond its expiration date, June 30, 1946, for the purpose of price control? brought the following totals: 275 said Yes, 42 said No, and 22 expressed no opinion.

Interviewers Ask About Russia.

The third question, Should the United States take a firmer attitude in regard to recent Russian acts and policies? brought Yes from 200, No from 79, and no opinion from 60. But the fourth, also about Russia, Should the United States stop Russian aggressions or alleged aggressions in Manchuria, Iran, and elsewhere by force if necessary, even if this would mean another war? brought 148 votes of No to 98 of Yes, and 93 people expressed no opinion.

Voting on Question 5, Should the U.N.O. be placed in charge (completely) of atomic bombs? was close. 142 voting Yes, 140 voting No, and 58 expressing no opinion.

The sixth question, Should the government; Should the Government be allowed to compete with private enterprise in order to secure cheap and adequate housing for veterans and others? brought a preponderance of Yes votes, 222 voting Yes, 60 voting No, and 57 expressing no opinion.

Opinions were divided upon the seventh question, which had to do with whether fraternities and sororities are basically undemocratic and whether they should be eliminated from American campuses. Of those questions, 105 said Yes, 162 said No, and 72 expressed no opinion.

The eighth question, Should the city of Maryville provide an adequate, tax-supported recreation program for all age groups? went overwhelmingly Yes, with a total of 258. Only 18 voted No, and 62 expressed no opinion.

Miss Geneva Wilfley, a graduate of the College, has moved to her apartment at 316½ West First street. Miss Wilfley remodeled her house on West First after the sale of the Wilfley home on West Fourth street.

William Jewell Wins Track Meet

Bearcats Go Down Before School They Previously Had Outstripped.

Cardinals Take 12 Points

In the first inter-collegiate track meet of the season the William Jewell Cardinals of Liberty gained partial revenge for the severe drubbing they suffered at the hands of the Maryville Bears in previous days. Intra-Mural Program for Spring Will Be Planned

Mr. E. A. Davis, director of athletics, has announced the proposed intra-mural program for this spring. With the advent of warmer weather outdoors, sports will be emphasized and tournaments will be held in the various sports.

Swimming is popular at the present time, and about thirty people have been attending the open pool held every week on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday night from 7 until 9 o'clock. Mr. Davis states that many more students could be accommodated in addition to those already attending.

Children of Fifth Grade Put Out Own Newspaper

The fifth grade at the Horace Mann recently published their first issue of "Chatter," a class newspaper. The editor of the paper is Larry Wray. The Chatter staff includes editor, associate editor, typists, printers, and reporters. All but the editor will be shifted with each issue to give all the students a chance to participate.

The newspaper is to be headed by a poem composed by the class as a whole or by one of the members. The first issue contained the following poem, composed by the class as a whole:

"A little bit of blowing,
A little bit of snow,
Showers and then some sunshine,
And spring begins to show."

News of the class activities is printed. Riddles and bits of humor are also part of the paper. The class has constructed a Chatter office where the paper is printed. The students do all of the work on the paper, reporting, making designs, typing, and printing. The printing is done by means of a hectograph.

The fifth grade students are Sue Olymns, Carolyn Curfman, Norma Hanna, Greta Garten, Shirley Wilson, Shirley Hartzell, Donna Ingled, Susana Phipps, Ann Wilson, Mildred Kelly;

Marjorie Riley, Joyce Blackford, Beverly Christie, Bob Elgaard, John Mattson, Jack Van Elson, John Dorman, Larry Brennan, and Larry Wray.

Enough papers are printed for each of the students. Copies are sent to the fourth and sixth grades. It is a project of which the fifth grade has a right to be proud.

Mrs. Avis Graham, assisted by the student teachers, Miss Louise Allen, Miss Janice Marquis, and Miss Wren Stirlen, is the teacher of the fifth grade.

Frederick French, a graduate of the College and a returned veteran, has taken a position in Kansas City with the Veterans' Administration.
